

On behalf of the Site Host Committee, it is our honor to invite you to support the 45th Annual Meeting, taking place in Fort Wayne, Indiana, at the Grand Wayne Convention Center. This year, the American Academy of FertilityCare Professionals (AAFCP) celebrates a remarkable milestone: 50 Years at the Epicenter of Women's Health: Creighton Model FertilityCare System & NaProTECHNOLOGY.

This year's theme commemorates far more than five decades of science and research. It reflects the resiliency of the Co-Developers' dedication and commitment, which has established a strong and enduring reputation in service, education, research, and leadership. Through these efforts, both individuals and allied healthcare professionals around the world have come to a deeper understanding of the design and function of the female body.

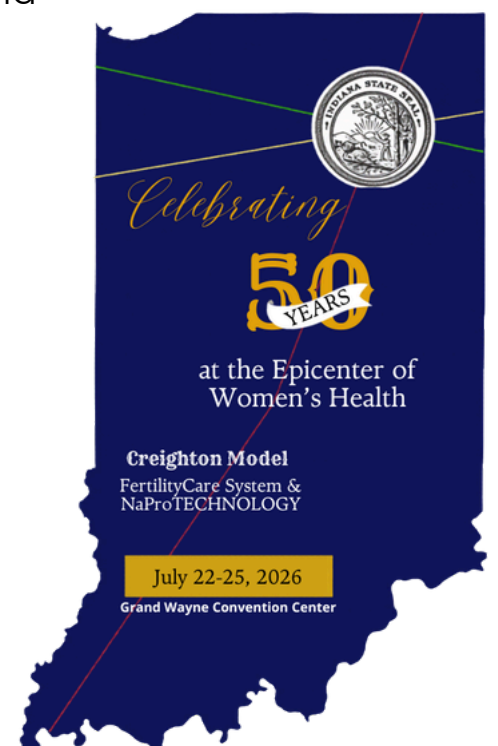

The impact of the Creighton Model FertilityCare System (CrMFCS) & NaProTECHNOLOGY (Natural Procreative TECHNOLOGY, NaPro) is revolutionary. By honoring the natural design of a woman's body and working in harmony with it, this model has brought authentic hope and healing to countless women. It has empowered women with knowledge of their own health, provided answers to complex medical concerns, and offered pathways to treatments that are both scientifically sound and deeply respectful of their dignity. What began as a fertility regulation model rooted in ethics and morals has grown into a global standard, transforming the way women's health is understood, taught, and implemented into practice.

Through decades of ongoing research, this work continues to ripple outward. What started in a single OB/GYN's medical office setting has expanded across the globe. The CrMFCS & NaPro, positioned at the epicenter of women's health, provide a standardized and unified approach that is making a lasting and transformative impact, unlike any other medical model in the world today. Rooted in moral and ethical science, this work educates professionals who serve with a specialized excellence and integrity, bringing compassionate and life-affirming healthcare to those they serve.

As we prepare to gather, we humbly ask you to consider supporting this year's Annual Meeting. Your support, through prayer, your presence, financial contributions, or advocacy, plays a vital role in continuing this mission and advancing healthcare in a way that respects and upholds the dignity of all women.

We are deeply grateful for your consideration and for the many ways you contribute to this important mission.

Theresa Schortgen, MSN, RN, CFCP, CFCE
Site Host: 45th Annual Meeting

To review the Sponsorship Opportunities available visit:
aafcp.net/annual-meeting/sponsorship-opportunities