

Notice of Retraction of Annual Research Paper Award 2018

The winner of the AAFCP Annual Research Paper Award for 2018 has been retracted. The article Peri-conceptional Progesterone Treatment in Women with Unexplained Recurrent Miscarriage: a Randomized Double-blind Placebo-controlled Trial by Ismail et. al. has been retracted by the Journal of Maternal-Fetal and Neonatal Medicine.

The editors of the journal state: “While this article was peer-reviewed and accepted according to the Journal’s policy concerns were subsequently raised regarding the accuracy and reliability of the data. The Editors-in-Chief were made aware of previous versions of the article which showed significant changes to the underlying data. After an investigation the authors of the paper were contacted but were unable to provide the original data to verify their results.”

The statement of retraction by the journal can be found at <https://www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1080/14767058.2017.1286315>.

The AAFCP will rescind the Annual Research Paper Award for this publication and make note of this where reference to this paper appears on our website.